

Paper Mache.. Bois ?

It appear the lack of 'Bye-Weeks' is really getting to the training staff of the always game Walnutport Breadbois this season. They turned to their local Aromatherapist, Sesse Jmith. Her influence has rooted deeply into the heart & minds of the breadbois locker room. Jmith believes the paper mache fumes will help heal soreness.

A Cleaner Palate

Odd times over in....well we still don't know where they reisde. Were talking about Trash Panada's Mischief most certainly. As there garbaging eating loveable mascot, none other than 'Rico Rogers' a racoon was caught it freshly prepared food from Longhorn Steakhouse last week. Rico is on a strict garbage only diet, it bring good luck. More importantly what was Longhorn Steakhouse serving a racoon?

Back to Back Hopeful

Its no secret that the best team in GWEC is the Dillsburg Dermits, racking up 15 victories & 4 defeats.

With only 2 matchups left this season the Dermits are the clear cut front runners to hoist the GWEC cup in its 3rd season. A game and half up on the Noxen Inbreds almost guarantees a 1st week Bye in the race of the GWEC Cup. The 'Dermies', the Dermits fan base is excited about the pontential of having another parade down S. Baltimore street once gain, the town pickle and all! Even though the this is the Dermits seconds season the Dermies know a GWEC cup ins't an automatic thing every year but there excrete confinidence in their hometown squad. In the recent thrasing of the league worst Hanover Hungmench the Dermies were chanting "DYNASTY-DYNASTY".

Godspeed to anyone who draws the Dermits in their play-off match up. But hey this is GWEC and as UK pop star 'Ellie Goulding' once said "Anytning can happen"

Scabies? No Sweat

Scabies among other STD's are running rampant on main road Hunlock Creek over at the most wanted facilities.

Taz O'Schweep (HMW Equipment Manager) was at sick call last week 1st of many reporting a burning sensation out of his willie. Soon after more and more staff were getting diagnosed for everything under the sun.

Turns out Taz, brought back some Noxen Inbred fans to the Hunlock facilities, as we know people in Noxen....Their last concern is for sure not sexual health their one and only concerns is getting 23 & Me done to found out who is related to them to keep Noxen thriving.

Thankfully for the teams sake, Most Wanted were on a road trip when the outbreak was discovered. Hunlock's is now a STD FREE Facility.

Who pushed the ticklin' Skip??

Unnamed sources certain its an inside job.

The Entire GWEC upper management held their breath last week as the Shickshinny Sticklers manager was escorted to a Dover area hospital early last week.

Not only did they suffer a defeated against the Dover Dipsy Doodles in dramatic fashion, upon exiting the arena a masked assailant thrust the ticklin' skip down a flight of stairs.

Smacking his head nearly on every other step, the skippers was laying against the rink wall unconscious. A nearby tickler fan was nearby and the following was near account, "This was the first time seeing my beloved Shickshinny Stickticklers play live fantasy hockey so I was eager to get an autography from their skipper. As I was making my way over to him post game as he was greeting fans I heard the weirdist noise and then I saw the Skipper take flight, hitting his head on every other step".

The skipper woke up in Dover General Hospital, his words to reporters were, "Once Second I queefed then I woke up in a hosiptal".

The masked assilant was wearing a Lehigh Brazil Nut's jersey and after the thrust the masked pusher made a break for it.

"One second I queefed then I woke up in a hospital"

The Lehigh Brazil Nut fanatic didn't get to far...the crack (no pun intened) security team over in the Dover facilities pummeled the crazy fan to the ground, hog tied them and farted in their face for good measure.

For lawful purposed the fanatic can't be named at this time. But when asked why they thrust the skipper one word was spoken, "ELECTROLYTES".

If you been following GWEC for these last three years you damn well know that the Shickshinny Stickticklers have been on the forefront of robbing the other franchises of their electrolyte stores. The ticklers upper management corruption and misfunded forces staff to steal electrolytes from other Facilities throughout GWEC. Perhaps this time they took one too many electroytes.

GWEC insiders and fans alike fear this won't be the last retaliation in efforts to halt the electrolyte stealing campaign the Ticklers have instituted.

Shickshinny Stickticklers staffers are reportedly starting to look for different jobs throughout the league. The Ownership is becoming more difficult to deal with. As they continue to misuse team fudning on personal gains.
